North Creek Trail

Washington

The North Creek Trail links the cities of Bothell, Mill Creek and Everett, as well as the communities in between. The trail follows a Highway/SR 527 at 214th Street. In the meantime, to join the two segments cyclists must use on-street bike lanes on Bothell Everett Highway/SR-527.

Connections

At the southern end of the trail, trail users can access to the Sammamish River Trail

The North Creek Trail links the cities of Bothell, Mill Creek and Everett, as well as the communities in between. The trail follows a wooded corridor with some gentle hills interspersed with wetlands-great for bird-watching. The trail is broken into two disjointed segments.

About the Route

The northern segment in Mill Creek runs for 2.5 miles between McCollum Pioneer Park off Route 96 and 164th St. SE. The Bothell segment runs for nearly 5 miles from north of Bothell at 214th St. SE south to the Sammamish River Trail just south of Route 522.

Another segment is in the works that will join the short distance between 208th Street SE and Bothell Everett
