The Plaster Creek Trail provides a non-motorized way to access Grand Rapids neighborhoods via a pleasant, tree-lined route. The path meanders along a tributary of the Grand River from Ken-O-Sha Park to just past the Salvation Army Kroc Center at Division Avenue. The trail follows along city sidewalks at 28th Street SE/Route 11 (eastbound to Eastern Avenue) and Eastern Avenue (westbound to 28th Street).

Plans call for the trail to continue northwest from Division Avenue, connecting with the Oxford Street trail, which connects to Millennium Park, a gateway to many other trails.
