Ivy Creek Greenway

Georgia

Ivy Creek Greenway follows its namesake waterway in Buford, which lies in the northeastern Atlanta region. Highlights of the trip

Connections

The southern end of the trail connects to the Suwanee Creek Greenway.

Ivy Creek Greenway follows its namesake waterway in Buford, which lies in the northeastern Atlanta region. Highlights of the trip include the Gwinnett Environmental and Heritage Center, Woodward Mill Historic Site, and the sprawling Mall of Georgia.

About the Route

The route also has a 400-foot-long boardwalk over the creek. There is some traffic noise as the trail approaches I-85, but it is otherwise quiet.

Another more recent disconnected segment takes runners on a 2.5-mile round trip through George Pierce Park in Suwanee on a combination of paved trail and boardwalk.
