The Campus Way Bike Path begins at the western end of Oregon State University's campus in Corvallis. From the campus, the paved pathway takes you on a straight course west through picturesque countryside in the heart of the Willamette Valley.

Oregon has one of the largest collections of covered bridges in the country, and you'll be treated to one midway along the trail. The Irish Bend Covered Bridge, which spans Oak Creek, was originally constructed in 1954 in another location south of Corvallis, but moved here in 1989.

At the Benton County Fairgrounds, the trail meets the Midge Cramer Multi-Use Path, which continues west to the Bald Hill Natural Area.
