The Puyallup Riverwalk Trail traces the tree-lined shoreline in northern Puyallup, a few miles southeast of Tacoma. The paved pathway consists of two completed segments with about a mile of residential roadway and sidewalks in between. As you travel alongside River Road, you'll catch glimpses of the water on one side and commercial areas on the other. A mall at the Meridian Avenue crossing offers places to stop and eat.

The trail ends on the outskirts of Sumner. From here, the adventurous can continue their journey on the Foothills Trail. From the Riverwalk's eastern-most endpoint, cross
