White House Greenway

Tennessee

The White House Greenway is a paved 3.6-mile multiuse trail in the City of White House, which lies 25 miles north of Nashville, and 0.75-mile paved trail that connects to the greenway.

The tree-lined trail continues alongside a creek for much of its nearly 4-mile journey. Note that there are a couple of strenuous hills. There are five trailheads along the route. The Tyree Springs Trailhead by the White House High School has a portable restroom.

Future plans are to complete the loop around the city.

The White House Greenway is a paved 3.6-mile multiuse trail in the City of White House, which lies 25 miles north of Nashville, and touches two counties: Sumner and Robertson.

About the Route

From the central part of the city, the trail curves north around the city's eastern side, and ends north of White House.

In downtown White House, the southwest end of the greenway begins on the south side of TN 76, across the street from the White House Municipal Park. The park has athletic facilities, playgrounds, picnic shelters, restrooms, parking, and a dog park. The park also has a
