The Kishwaukee Riverfront Path winds nearly 7 miles through downtown Belvidere, east of Rockford in northern Illinois. As its name implies, the paved scenic trail follows the waterway for most of its journey through the Spencer Conservation Area, Belvidere Park and Doty Park.

The 105-acre Belvidere Park offers a fishing pier, sports facilities, playground, picnic shelters and a historic swinging bridge. The park also houses the historical Baltic Mill and museum. In Doty Park, you can find a large playground, skate park, fishing pier and athletic fields. The Spencer Conservation Area offers forests and wetlands for wildlife viewing, as well as fishing opportunities and hiking and cross-country ski trails.
