

2024

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Greenbelt Bikeway

Illinois

Greenbelt Bikeway

Illinois

The backbone of the Greenbelt Bikeway runs north–south along Copper Slough, passing through two large city parks divided by W.

The backbone of the Greenbelt Bikeway runs north–south along Copper Slough, passing through two large city parks divided by W. Bradley Avenue. In Dodds Park to the north, there is a spur west through soccer fields to the primary parking lot and service building, and a short spur east to an Olympic tribute memorial and small parking lot. Heritage Park offers a connector trail over to N. Country Fair Drive, plus a nice pond and more trees. Kaufman Park on the southern end surrounds scenic Clear Lake.

Greenbelt Bikeway

Illinois

States: Illinois

Counties: Champaign

Length: 1.7miles

Trail end points: Dodds Park at Parkland Way to Kaufman Park at I-72

Trail surfaces: Concrete

Trail category: Greenway/Non-RT

Trail activities: Bike, Inline

Skating, Wheelchair Accessible, Walking, Cross

Country Skiing

Parking & Trail Access

The Greenbelt Bikeway's main parking is at its western access off Perimeter Road. From the eastern terminus of I-72 at N. Country Fair Drive, turn north and proceed to W. Bradley Avenue. Turn left and go past the parks to the first traffic signal. Turn right onto Perimeter Road and go 600 feet to the turn-in on the right. There is also trail access from a smaller parking lot off Parkland Way by the Olympic Tribute.

