The Trolley Line Trail, which opened in 2009, runs north from the City of Clio to the Saginaw County line at Willard Road in Vienna Township. It is so-named because it occupies a corridor that once saw service from an interurban railroad that carried passengers between Flint and Saginaw.

The paved route is also a rail-with-trail, as it parallels an active CSX track to the west. The trail connects directly to Clio's George Atkin Jr. Recreational Trail in the south, allowing cyclists, pedestrians and inline skaters to experience the city's various amenities. The Trolley Line Trail's route is significantly more rural, dominated by idyllic farmland views for its 3-mile run.
