Hominy Creek Trail is just over a mile between Green Valley Drive and Lansing Avenue in eastern Columbia. Along the way, the paved pathway follows its namesake tree-lined creek and passes under East Broadway.

For additional recreational opportunities, trail-goers can continue their journey westward on the sidewalk paralleling Lansing Avenue to reach Woodridge Park, which offers athletic fields, a basketball court, and a playground.

Future plans call for the trail to extend to north from Lansing Avenue to I-70, which would double its length.
