Meadowlark Connector Trail

Virginia

Although less than two miles long, the Meadowlark Connector Trail provides a terrific link between the Meadowlark Botanical Gardens

Although less than two miles long, the Meadowlark Connector Trail provides a terrific link between the Meadowlark Botanical Gardens and the popular W&OD Trail. The trail meets the W&OD in Vienna; trail-goers can then take the longer trail southeast into Arlington or northwest to Purcellville.

The connector is paved with one short section that runs on a quiet roadway. At its northern end, the 95-acre Meadowlark Botanical Gardens, open daily year-round, offers beauty around every corner. Walking paths wind around ponds, native trees, wildflowers, a butterfly garden, a Korean cultural garden, and many other visual sites. As of 2014, the entry fee was $5.00 for adults and less for children and those 55 or older.
