Shingle Creek Regional Trail (FL)

Florida

The Shingle Creek Regional Trail started with humble beginnings of just over 1 mile, leaving off near Steffee Landing, south of US

Regional Trail parallels President Barack Obama Parkway from Eagle Nest Park, where picnic pavilions, ball fields, restrooms, and other amenities are available. Then, the trail takes a southeast turn out of the quiet residential neighborhood towards Vineland Road, which it parallels for a short distance before crossing under I-4.

The northern segment continues south to Millenia Boulevard before bordering a large shopping complex. W Oak Ridge Road provides an isolated, shady corridor within this southwestern Orlando suburb.

In Kissimmee, the trail runs around almost the entirety of the city's west and south sides, from just south of Osceola Parkway to the city's Kissimmee Lakefront Park. Portions of the route along Hoagland Boulevard consist of narrower, less scenic side paths, while a major gap still exists between the trail's terminus in the park and the rest of the route.

The Shingle Creek Regional Trail started with humble beginnings of just over 1 mile, leaving off near Steffee Landing, south of US Highway 192, and running past the Osceola County Welcome Center and Historical Museum to the Pioneer Village. The route is shaded by a dense canopy of cypress trees. Over 17 paved miles of this planned 32-mile regional trail are now open for all trail users to enjoy.

About the Route

In Orlando, a lengthy segment of the Shingle Creek Regional Trail is complete between Eagle Nest Park—including a loop around the lovely waters of Lake Fran—and Destination Parkway seven miles to the south. At the northern end of its northern segment, the Shingle Creek
