Although the Neshaminy Creek Greenway is only about a half mile long, big things are in its future. One day, the greenway could span as much as 33 miles, reaching the Delaware River.

Currently, the paved trail begins at Upper State Road in New Britain Borough and heads southeast, paralleling a wooded creek, to connect to the 202 Parkway Trail. Both trails are part of large system of trails spanning a whopping 750 miles in the Philadelphia and Camden area called The Circuit.
