The Wabash Cannonball Trail Connector is a short, but valuable, paved route on the west end of Maumee that connects historical attractions, a popular park, and a rail-trail that spans more than 60 miles.

On its north end, the trail begins at an intersection with the Wabash Cannonball Trail, which continues west towards Montpelier. If you head south from this intersection, paralleling Jerome Road, you will soon pass Fallen Timbers Battlefield, National Historic Site.

Continuing south, you'll cross OH 24 on a bike and pedestrian bridge and have access to Side Cut Metropark, which provides a great place to learn about Ohio's canal history, enjoy beautiful views of the Maumee River, and fish.
