Westside Trail (GA)

Georgia

The Westside Trail offers a tree-lined route in Atlanta, running from University Avenue to Lena Avenue along the former Louisville

Opened in September 2017, the Westside Trail is part of the developing Atlanta BeltLine, a developing 33-mile trail network.

The Westside Trail offers a tree-lined route in Atlanta, running from University Avenue to Lena Avenue along the former Louisville and Nashville Railroad. It connects the historical neighborhoods of Adair Park at its south end, Washington Park at its north end, and West End, Mozley Park, and Westview in between. With a centerline separating one direction from the other and an underpass beneath I-20, the paved rail-trail offers an easy and convenient way for residents to get around town.

Segment 3 of the Westside Trail has just opened recently and connects to the Westside Beltline Connector Trail. This 1.22 mile northern segment will eventually connect to the 3.3 mile southern segment of the trail via Segment 4 which is under construction. This northern segment follows along Marietta Blvd.
