Taylor Drive Multi-use Path is a 2.75-mile trail in the heart of Sheboygan, Wisconsin. The trail stretches from Crocker Avenue to Kohler Memorial Drive (SR 23), providing a north-south non-motorized transportation spine through the city. The off-road trail sits on the east side of Taylor Drive, and connects residents to the University of Wisconsin-Sheboygan campus as well as other shopping, educational and employment centers. A boardwalk takes travelers above the beautiful rehabilitated wetland south of the Indiana Avenue intersection. Trail users will also enjoy the unobstructed views of the Sheboygan River from the overlook at the center of the river. The path connects to the Urban Rec Trail at Taylor Park at its northern terminus.
