Fountain Creek Regional Trail

Colorado

Fountain Creek Regional Trail is an unpaved pathway connecting two of the region's premier outdoor amenities: Pikes Peak environment at the Fountain Creek Nature Center. There is a nature trail there that is only open to users on foot and without dogs. And the Duckwood Active Play Area is 12-acre site featuring athletic fields, a playground and picnic shelters. Each of these areas serves as a trailhead complete with parking.

The trail's southern endpoint is at Bandley Drive, 2.5 miles south of State Route 16 in Fountain, Colorado.

Fountain Creek Regional Trail is an unpaved pathway connecting two of the region's premier outdoor amenities: Pikes Peak Greenway Trail and Fountain Creek Regional Park. The trail begins at the southern border of Colorado Springs, near the El Pomar Youth Sports Complex and pairs with the creek as it flows south into the park. Cyclists, walkers, joggers and others are welcome, but road bikes may not be ideal for this trail.

Once inside the 460 acre-park, you will be overwhelmed by the natural beauty of the wetlands, the meadows and the views of Pikes Peak. Birdlife is plentiful for those inclined to aviary pursuits, and so is other wildlife such as deer, beavers, and turtles. Fishing is permitted in the Willow Springs Ponds which are restocked regularly. Visitors can learn about the marsh and riparian
