

2025

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Ararat River
Greenway
North Carolina

Ararat River Greenway

North Carolina

The Ararat River Greenway is a pleasant, hard surface trail in Mt. Airy, NC. The trail gets its name from the Ararat River, and was here – the river is regularly stocked with trout.

The Ararat River Greenway is a pleasant, hard surface trail in Mt. Airy, NC. The trail gets its name from the Ararat River, and was part of an initiative to restore the waterway with the twin goals of improving water quality and increasing recreational opportunities for residents. The trail meanders alongside the river from Riverside Park to Tharrington Park. The trail connects to two schools, three parks (including the H.B Rowe Environmental Park) and at its southern end you can access to the Emily B. Taylor Greenway via a recently built connector trail.

Along the trail are benches and picnic tables where you can stop and take in the scenic river views. Canoe, kayak and tube launch stations can be found at multiple points of the riverbank. Fishing is also a great way to pass time

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com

Ararat River Greenway

North Carolina

States: North Carolina

Counties: Surry

Length: 2.2miles

Trail end points: Riverside Park to Tharrington Park

Trail surfaces: Asphalt, Crushed Stone

Trail category: Greenway/Non-RT

Trail activities: Bike, Inline

Skating, Fishing, Wheelchair

Accessible, Mountain Biking, Walking

Parking & Trail Access

Parking is available at Riverside Park (350 Riverside Dr), alongside other amenities including playground, a skatepark, a soccer field, canoe launch and restrooms. You can also park at Tharrington Park (1501 W Wensley Dr).

