The Kitty Roedel Bicycle Path serves as a connector across the southern end of Doral. The paved pathway begins just north of the Dolphin Expressway (SR 836) interchange with SR 985 and south of Miami International Mall. From there, the pathway heads east paralleling the expressway for 2 miles to a busy commercial area. Fencing and an expansive grassy median separates the trail from the roadway and trees line each side.

The pathway was built in 2007 and named after Kitty Roedel, a long-serving board member for MDX, a public agency that operates the Dolphin Expressway and other expressways in Miami-Dade County. She was a leading advocate for incorporating greenways into transportation improvement projects.
