The Marine Parkway Multi-use Path was constructed as part of a wider trail networking improvement effort in the city of New Port Richey. The ultimate vision is to have a continuous bike-ped connection from the Pinellas Trail through downtown to the Starkey Trail. At present, the trail is 0.4 miles, running between US Highway 19 and Grand Boulevard. It's mostly a residential connector greenway, featuring lighting, landscaping and street furniture. Trail users can connect to the US-19 multi-use path and head south to Moog Road.
