

2024

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Red Hills Parkway Trail

Utah

Red Hills Parkway Trail

Utah

The Red Hills Parkway Trail is a fantastic way to get a taste of Utah's famous red rock scenery a stone's throw away from a busy expect, there's not a lot of shade to be found on this trail so make proper arrangements for sun protection and water before you leave.

The Red Hills Parkway Trail is a fantastic way to get a taste of Utah's famous red rock scenery a stone's throw away from a busy city. The trail begins in north St. George, at Red Hills Parkway and 800 N as a wide sidewalk, but very soon it transitions into invitingly smooth asphalt with yellow striping. The city portion of the trail is on an upwards incline, and as you climb, you'll be exposed to sweeping views of the city unfolding below and the hills a distant hazy blue. This urban segment has no less than four pull-out parking lots, meaning you have options as to where to start your journey. For example, you might start at the highest lot and the ride downhill. After about the first mile, the city disappears behind you and red rock hillsides surround you as you climb. The view then opens up into a red-and-green panorama. This is your setting until the end of the trail on State Route 18. As you might

Red Hills Parkway Trail

Utah

States: Utah

Counties: Washington

Length: 3.6miles

Trail end points: Red Hills Parkway & SR 18 to Red Hills Parkway & 900 E (St. George)

Trail surfaces: Asphalt

Trail category: Greenway/Non-RT

Trail activities: Bike, Inline Skating, Walking

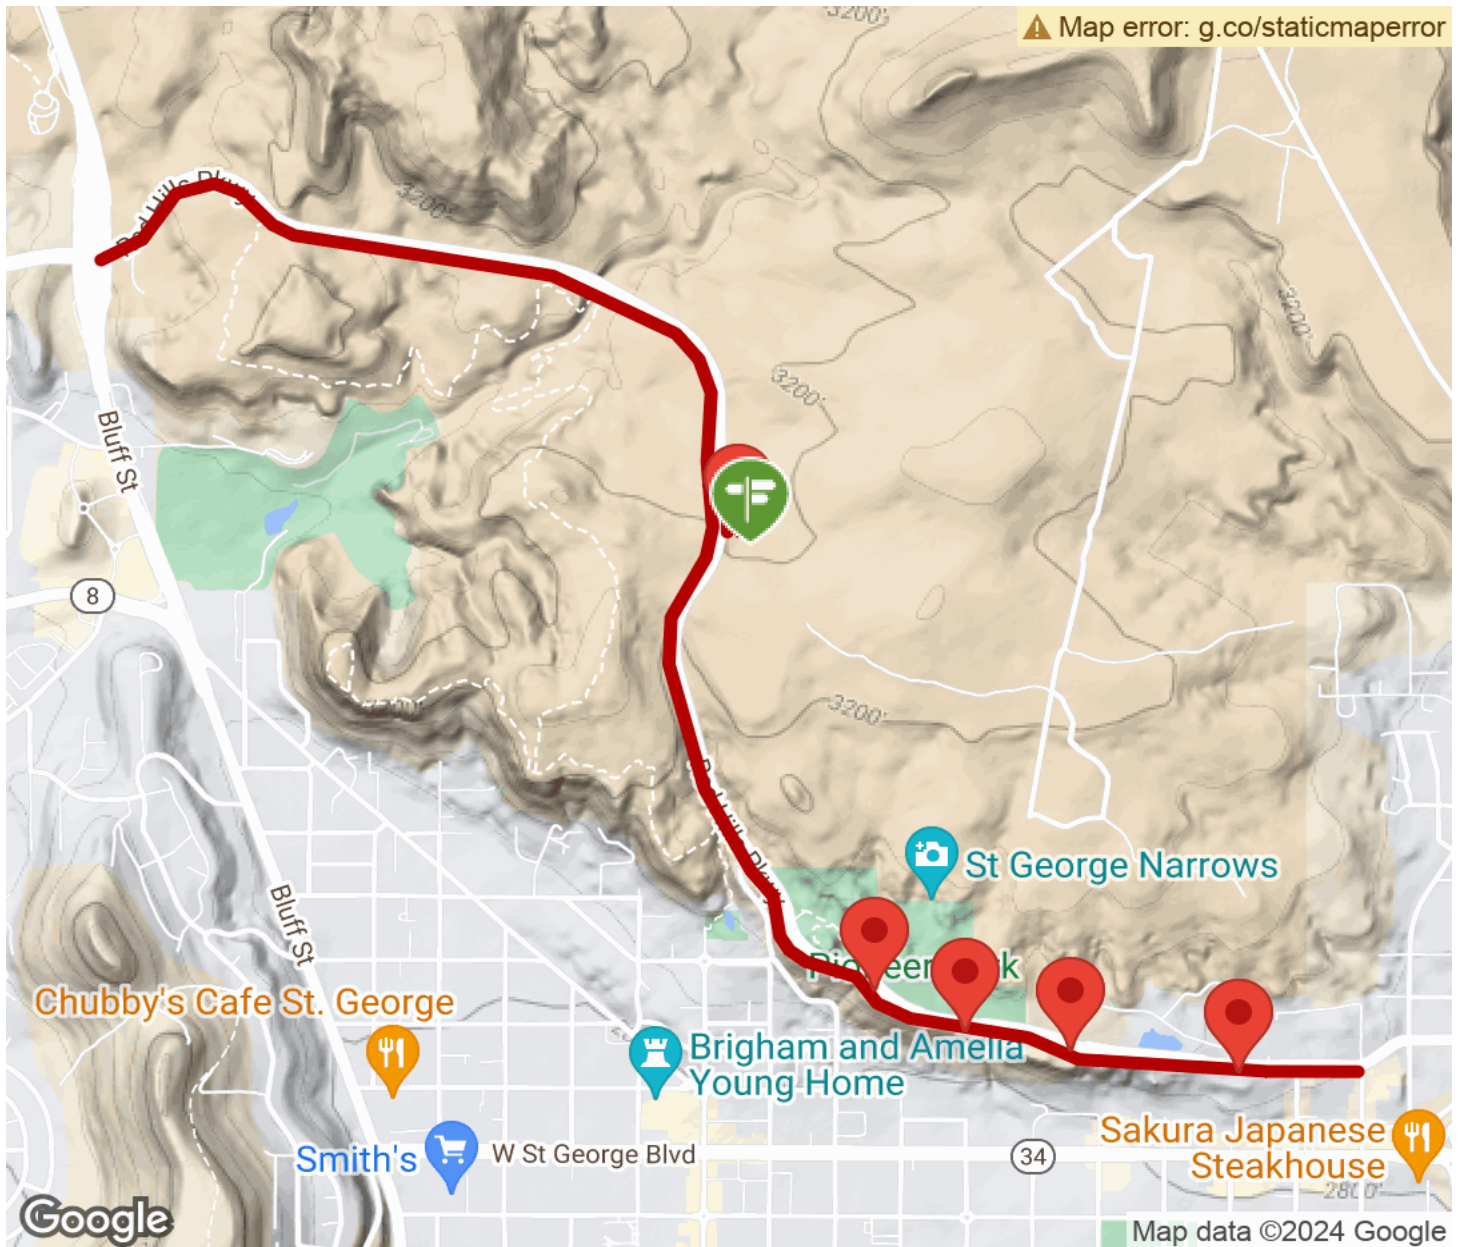

Parking & Trail Access

On the east side of the trail (city side), there are four pullout parking lots along Red Hills Parkway, beginning just west of 900 St. E, and heading west.

Red Hills Parkway Trail

Utah

Trailhead

Restroom

Parking

Water Fountain

Tunnel

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com