The section from Mayson Street to the MARTA Lindbergh Station is in development and will include a connection with the PATH400 Greenway Trail.

The Northeast Trail is part of the Atlanta BeltLine, a network of trails around the city. When it's finished, the Northeast Trail will connect the northern end of the Eastside Trail to the Lindbergh MARTA station.

The section running alongside Piedmont Park, from Monroe Drive to Westminster Drive, is unpaved but open to the public with a compacted fine gravel surface. Once paved, it will be a multi-use trail and transit will run parallel to the trail along the railroad corridor.

The middle 1.2-mile section is open—from Ansley Mall to the Buford Spring Connector is paved and from Monroe Drive to Mayson Street is currently unpaved but still open for use.
