Dean's Trail is a multi-use pathway in Springdale, Washington County that connects residents of the east side of the city to the Razorback Greenway (specifically, the Spring Creek Trail segment). It is connected to the Spring Creek Trail at Park Street by a short segment known as the Shiloh Trail. The real start point of the trail is found on Emma Avenue - the Jones Center acts as the trailhead. The Jones Center is an indoor recreation space with an ice-rink, pool and fitness center.

From the Jones Center the trail follows Spring Creek past the municipal airport into the east side of the city, connecting to neighborhoods and schools on the east side.

The Dean's Trail is a concrete path with two-travel lanes. It accommodates non-motorized uses only.
