

2024

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Central Canal Towpath

Indiana

Central Canal Towpath

Indiana

The Central Canal Towpath, also known as the IWC Canal Greenway, features two 19th-century iron bridges that cross the

The Central Canal Towpath, also known as the IWC Canal Greenway, features two 19th-century iron bridges that cross the waterway, designated an American Water Landmark. As you follow the tree-lined, crushed limestone path, keep your eyes open for blue heron, ducks, geese and turtles.

The trail runs past a number of cultural amenities, including Butler University, Holcomb Gardens and the Indianapolis Museum of Art. From the trail's northern endpoint, continue your journey on the Monon Trail, an 18-mile member of RTC's Rail-Trail Hall of Fame, or, from the trail's southern end, you can access the White River Wapahani Trail to travel into downtown Indianapolis.

Central Canal Towpath

Indiana

States: Indiana

Counties: Marion

Length: 5.23miles

Trail end points: Monon Trail between Guilford Ave. and Westfield Blvd. (Broad Ripple) to W. 30th St. and N. Harding St. near Riverside Park (Indianapolis)

Trail surfaces: Crushed Stone

Trail category: Canal

Trail activities: Bike, Wheelchair Accessible, Walking, Cross Country Skiing

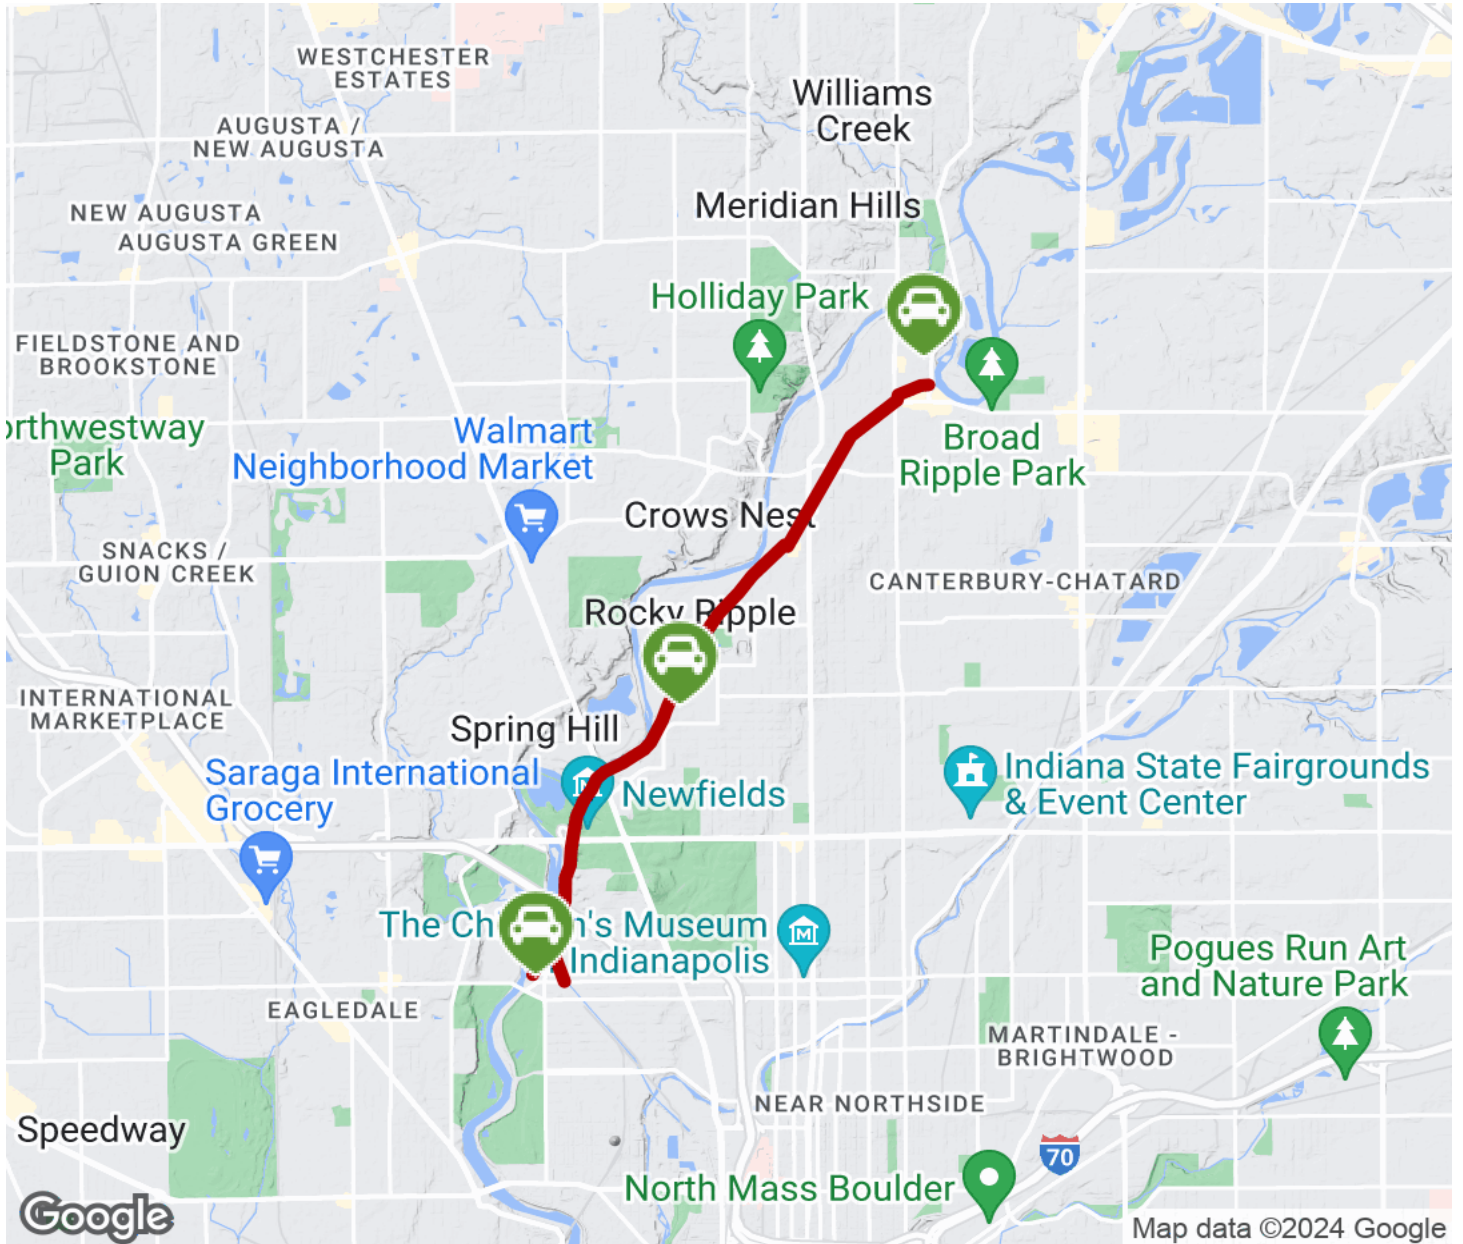

Parking & Trail Access

A short distance north of the Central Canal Towpath's northern endpoint, you'll find parking adjacent to the Monon Trail on Cornell Avenue. At the southern end of the trail, park in designated spaces along W. 30th Street, across from the Indiana Naval Armory. Near the trail's midpoint, a spur connects to the Butler University campus, where you can also find parking (restrictions may apply).

Central Canal Towpath

Indiana

Trailhead

Restroom

Parking

Water Fountain

Tunnel

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com