

2024

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Vernon McCullough Fresno River Trail

California

Vernon McCullough Fresno River Trail

California

The Vernon McCullough Fresno River Trail runs along the dry river in Madera, offering a recreation and transportation amenity for

The Vernon McCullough Fresno River Trail runs along the dry river in Madera, offering a recreation and transportation amenity for the city's residents and visitors. The trail is divided in two by active railroad tracks and Gateway Drive, but the city is working on constructing a new undercrossing to bridge the gap. Eventually, expansion eastward will complete the trail, which is planned to one day span Madera city limits.

Vernon McCullough Fresno River Trail

California

States: California

Counties: Madera

Length: 3.4miles

Trail end points: Riverview Dr. west of Caitlan
Dr. to Tulare St. and Daulton Ave.

Trail surfaces: Asphalt

Trail category: Greenway/Non-RT

Trail activities: Bike, Inline
Skating, Wheelchair Accessible, Walking

Parking & Trail Access

Parking and restrooms are available at Rotary Park on Gateway Drive.

