

2024

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Bob Jones City to the Sea Trail
California

Bob Jones City to the Sea Trail California

The Avila Beach section of the 2-segment "Bob Jones" City to the Sea Trail is a short but delightful ride down to the ocean along San Luis

There are plans to close the 4.5 mile gap between the segments.

The Avila Beach section of the 2-segment "Bob Jones" City to the Sea Trail is a short but delightful ride down to the ocean along San Luis Obispo Creek. Starting at the Ontario Road park-and-ride lot, the trail traverses a rocky hillside covered in mature oaks, passes a vineyard and two private communities, takes to a private road along the creek then crosses a golf course and the creek to enter Avila Beach (where the trail ends).

The trail is scenic and offers a variety to see and do along the way. Cyclists can loop back on Avila Beach Drive, which has wide shoulders.

The upper end of the trail in San Luis Obispo is a 1-mile stretch running between Prado Road (where there's the new footbridge) and extending past the city sewer plant.

Bob Jones City to the Sea Trail

California

States: California

Counties: San Luis Obispo

Length: 3miles

Trail end points: Prado Rd. to sewage treatment plant to Avila State Beach at 1st St. to Ontario Rd.

Trail surfaces: Asphalt, Concrete

Trail category: Greenway/Non-RT

Trail activities: Bike, Walking

Parking & Trail Access

For the southern segment, park at Avila State Beach off Avila Beach Drive or at the park-and-ride lot on Ontario Rd. For the northern segment, access is at Prado Road (no parking).

Bob Jones City to the Sea Trail

California

Trailhead

Restroom

Parking

Water Fountain

Tunnel

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com