

2024

TrailLink Unlimited

Guides

Campbell Creek Trail
Alaska

Campbell Creek Trail

Alaska

The Campbell Creek Trail meanders along Campbell Creek making its way through urban Anchorage among neighborhoods and

The Campbell Creek Trail meanders along Campbell Creek making its way through urban Anchorage among neighborhoods and beautiful city parks. The runs for 7.5 miles between the lake on the university campus north of Tudor Road and the intersection of Diamond Boulevard and Victor Road. There is one broken link in the trail where it meets the Seward Highway (Route 1).

You're likely to see wildlife along the way, including moose, beaver and salmon making their way up the creek in late summer and early autumn to spawn. There's a viewing platform near Piper Street, which overlooks the confluence of the north and south forks of Campbell Creek.

Campbell Creek Trail

Alaska

States: Alaska

Counties: Anchorage

Length: 7.5miles

Trail end points: Dimond Blvd. and Victor Rd.
to E. Tudor Rd. and Elmore Rd.

Trail surfaces: Asphalt

Trail category: Greenway/Non-RT

Trail activities: Bike, Fishing, Wheelchair
Accessible, Walking, Cross Country Skiing

Parking & Trail Access

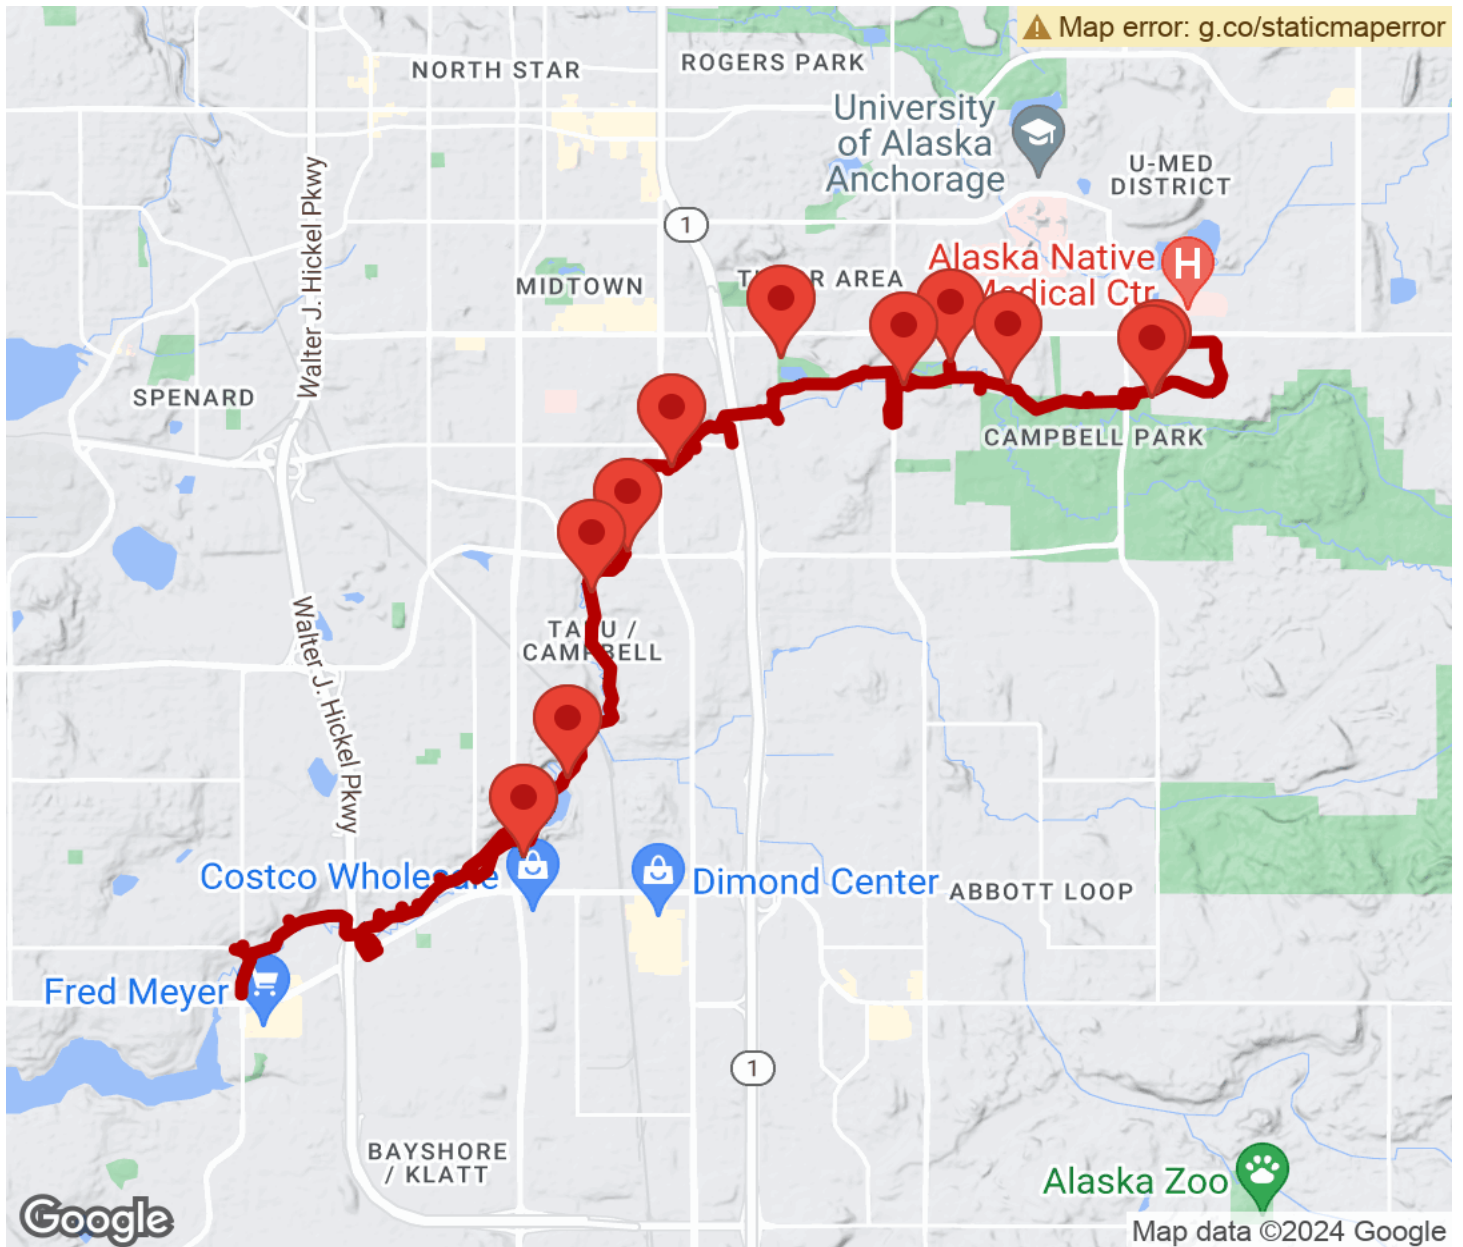

You can access the trail Lake Otis Park or the Simonean ball fields off Tudor Road behind the Anchorage Police Station. Access is also behind the public works complex off Tudor Road; look for a trailhead at the back of the lot next to a statute of bear and picnicker.

You can access the trail from the university campus via the lake trail and also at its terminus at Northwood Drive (limited parking). You'll find another parking area off Stormy Place; a short spur leads to the main trail from the lot.

Campbell Creek Trail

Alaska

Trailhead

Restroom

Parking

Water Fountain

Tunnel

TrailLink
by Rails-to-Trails Conservancy

TrailLink.com