The Prince Memorial Greenway is a short urban trail on both sides of Santa Rosa Creek in the Sonoma County community of Santa Rosa. A major component of the city's efforts to clean up and restore the creek, the trail features native plants and up-close views of the historic buildings of Santa Rosa's charming downtown area.

From the western end at Pierson Street, trail users can continue on the Santa Rosa Creek Trail for a longer trip. Alternatively, head south on the Joe Rodota Trail via a trail bridge over Santa Rosa Creek near an active rail line to reach Sebastopol.
