MoPac Mobility Bridges

Texas

In 2017, the South MoPac Bridges opened, providing a safe conduit between southwest Austin and downtown, safely separated from the southbound lanes. As it climbs curves and falls, it connects to existing multiuse trails in Austin's trail network, including the Barton Creek Greenbelt, Violet Crown Trail and the trails in Oak Hills.

In 2017, the South MoPac Bridges opened, providing a safe conduit between southwest Austin and downtown, safely separated from the harried pace of the MoPac Expressway.

The South MoPac Bridges project has three components:

- Bike-ped bridge over Loop 360 at MoPac.
- Bike-ped bridge over Barton Creek at MoPac, spanning 1,045 feet and towering up to 70 feet over the gorge at its highest point.
- Multi-purpose trail on the west side of MoPac, stretching from Loop 360 north to Tamarron Boulevard.

The 14 ft-wide pathway is separated into north- and
